John's Life Story

John Catone was a strong, hard-working man who loved his job and his family. He was never happier than when helping out a friend in need & the chance to help others always brought a smile to his face. John's kind heart, generous spirit, and enthusiasm for life will live on in the hearts of all those whose lives he touched.

John was born on Christmas Day of 1951, to proud parents James and Laura Catone. The Catone family lived in Rochester, New York, where John grew up with his brother, Butch.

As a teenager, John was fascinated by cars and drag racing. His hero was Jeff Gordon, and he was an enthusiastic fan of the Nascar races. John himself had a 1966 Nova, which he could often be spotted dragging on the streets, at Batavia

Speedway, and at Spencer Speedway.

John graduated from the Aquinas Institute, and entered the working world. In the years to come, he was blessed with three children: Heather, Jamie, and Tara. John loved being a Christmas baby, and always looked forward to celebrating the holidays with his family. On quiet evenings, John and his family often played cards, and also played some backgammon. Every Friday night, John enjoyed dinner out at a Chinese restaurant, and finished the evening with one of his favorite action movies.

Hard-working, kind, and caring, John was a loving father and a loyal friend. He will be deeply missed and lovingly remembered by his many friends and family members.

John J. Catone died
on October 5, 2012, at the age of 60.
